Racketeering Convictions Thrown Out Against Princeton/Newport Partners

A long-awaited ruling by a federal appeals court has granted a huge measure of relief to five Princeton area officials of the former arbitrage firm, Princeton/Newport Partners.

In a 2-1 decision handed down last Friday, the Second U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, threw out the racketeering convictions of all the defendants, based on tax fraud charges. The court found the defendants had not received a fair trial, and set aside the tax convictions that made up the bulk of the 63-count indictment.

The court said that because the RICO (Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Law) convictions were based largely on the tax counts, these must also be dismissed. Only three of the 63 counts on which the defendants were indicted in August, 1988 and convicted a year later, were upheld.

The defendants in the case are James S. Regan, Deer Run Farm, Harbourton;

Charles M. Zarzechi, 13 East Shore Drive, Hopewell Township; Jack Z. Rabinowitz, 23 Audubon Lane; Paul Berkman, 55 Clark Court; and Steven B. Smotrich, 106 Knickerbocker Drive, Belle Mead, all principals in Princeton/Newport, which had offices at 33 Witherspoon Street here. A sixth defendant, Bruce Lee Newberg, a former trader with Drexel Burnham Lambert Group, also benefitted from the ruling.

However, the appeals court upheld securities fraud convictions against Mr. Zarzechi and Mr. Newberg. Those convictions involved manipulation of a C.O.M.B. Co. stock offering for the benefit of Drexel.

Also upheld was a conspiracy conviction against all six defendants. But Theodore V. Wells Jr., an attorney for Mr. Regan, said the defendants, other than Messrs. Newberg and Zarzechi, will ask the court to reconsider the conspiracy conviction. Mr. Wells said the other defendants tions in the community?

A fight last week between two players that sent both to the hospital for treatment was described by Lt. Anthony Gaylord this week as the result of "an overtaxed facility," and possibly due to "the start of warm weather." There is a deeper issue involved, however; it pits black players against those who are viewed as outsiders, the Hispanics.

"This is the first time we've ever experienced a problem like this," said Jack Roberts, director of the Princeton Recreation Department which oversees the use of the court.

The "problem" was an incident Thursday night around 7 in which the blacks wanted to use the full length of the court for a pickup game. They told the Hispanics using side baskets to move off. Ac-

Consolidation Forces Gearing Up For Fall Vote on Study Commission

Petitions are circulating to solicit signatures for the five Borough residents and the five Township residents who are candidates for the Borough/Township Consolidation Study Commission.

Each individual must obtain enough signatures of registered voters to qualify for a position on the ballot at the general election this November. A candidate from the Township needs 252 signatures; one from the Borough, 133 signatures. These numbers represent five percent of those who voted in the last general election to choose State Assembly Members.

In the Borough, residents are also being asked to sign petitions to put the issue of studying consolidation on the ballot. Ten percent of those who voted in the last general election, or 266 Borough voters, will have to sign the petition indicating support for placing the study question before the electorate for the question to be on the ballot in November.

Township Committee voted unanimously and with little discussion in early May to place the consolidation study question on the ballot, thus obviating the need for a petition on this issue in the Township. The vote of Borough Council a week or so later was 3-3, and Mayor Marvin Reed, who only votes in case of a tie, voted against putting the study question on the ballot.

The five Borough candidates for the Joint Municipal Consolidation Study Commission are Van Zandt Williams' Jr., Miriam G. Landau, Roger Martindell, Corinne Kyle, and Minnie L. Craig. Mr. Williams, who lives at 101 Broadmead, has been a Princeton resident for 11 years. He is vice president for development at Princeton University, a member of the Planning Board's Site Plan Review Advisory Board (SPRAB) from 1986-89 and current chairman of the board of MSM (Middlesex Mercer Somerset) Regional Council. He is also a member of the McCarter Theatre board of directors.

Ms. Kyle, a Spruce Street resident, has also lived in Princeton for 11 years. She has been a member of the Princeton Regional School Board since 1983 and was president of the board. She is also a past president of the Princeton Regional Scholarship Foundation and is

Under a New Chairman The Health Commission Has Greater Autonomy

Having put last year's fiery personnel disputes behind it, the Princeton Regional Health Commission is moving forward in a new direction that its members hope will better serve the community.

Chestnut Street resident Robert M. Hendry, a former member of Borough Council, took over the chairmanship of the Commission on January 1. He had been asked to join the Commission — which is composed of five Borough and five Township residents — by the late Mayor Barbara Sigmund, who felt his background in health and business uniquely suited him to the task.

Last year — in the midst of the departmental and legal furor that resulted in the highly publicized firing of a health inspector and the resignation of the health officer — the Health Commission was provided with newfound autonomy that helped launch its future direction.

By State statute, the Health Commission functions independently of Borough Council and Township Committee. When members were informed of this by the Borough

Administrative Costs Are Way Up in Schools

Administrative salaries in New Jersey school districts ook a leap between 1982-83 and 1988-89 in more than 350 of the 460 school districts studied by Protection. He has served on the Public Affairs Research Institute of New Jersey.

During the 1982-83 school year, only 25 of the 460 districts spent more than $250 per pupil for administrative salaries. By 1988-89, 103 of 205 elementary districts, 13 of 206 K-12 districts and 18 of 49 secondary districts spent more than this figure for administration.

Princeton Regional's administrative salaries amounted to $296 per pupil in 1988-89 for 2,232 students. Six years earlier, the figure was $157 for 2,517 pupils. The per pupil expenditure in the operating budget had jumped in these six years from $4,547 to $7,534. Administrative salaries accounted for 3.93 percent of the 1988-89 operating budget, a jump over the earlier

The picture was decidedly different in West Windsor, where 1989-89 administrative salaries equaled $126 for each of 4,506 students. Six years earlier they had amounted to $75 for each of 2,624 pupils. As a percentage of the current expense operating budget, administrative costs dropped from 2.49 percent to 2.4 percent.

13 Dresses Shoplifted From Nassau St. Store

Thirteen dresses and 22 Tshirts valued at a combined $2,600 were shoplifted last week from a clothing store on Nassau Street.

The dresses were removed from racks and the T-shirts from shelves between 4 and 5:30 Thursday afternoon. The store, which Capt. Peter Hanley declined to identify, was busy at the time. No one was seen acting in a suspicious manner, Capt. Hanley added, and there are no suspects.

The next day, 12 infant dresses worth approximately $500 were shoplifted from racks in a Palmer Square store. Again, no one was seen and police would not reveal the name of the store.

In the Township, a shopper in the Super Fresh store in the Princeton Shopping Center was observed by an employee concealing some items in a bag. The items, a $25 rib eye roast and three packages of Polaroid film ($13 each) were recovered and the suspect left the store.

He was seen on Clearview Avenue by Lt. Samuel Bianco, detained until police arrived, and taken into custody where he was identified by the store employee who signed a complaint against David R. Loman, 37, of Leigh Avenue. Loman faces a hearing next week in Township court.

Loman was later turned over to Lawrence Township police who had an outstanding warrant for his arrest for contempt of court in that community. Police add Loman was also wanted by Franklin Township authorities on a second contempt of court charge.

Liquor Store Deception

Two customers entered a Nassau Street liquor store Saturday afternoon and used a credit card to purchase an assortment of bourbon, gin, scotch, vodka and rum totalling $230. Although the owner of the store received authorization to use the card, he was nevertheless suspicious of the two and called police.

Lt. Hanley reported that police traced the card to its owner, a resident of Trenton, who was unaware that his card had been stolen. The two suspects are described as black males, both 35 to 40, 5-11 to 6-0 tall. One had a beard.

Someone overnight last week entered an unlocked office in Princeton University's Mudd Library on Olden Street and stole $112 from an unlocked cabinet. The theft was reported at 6 p.m. on Friday.

A 22-year-old resident of Lawrence Township paid for his purchase at the Burger King on Nassau Street last week but left his wallet behind on a counter. Returning 20 minutes later, he discovered the wallet and $360 inside were Between June 3 and 20, approximately $950 has been stolen from Jordan's store in the Princeton Shopping Center. Lt. Anthony Gaylord reported that the money, in various amounts, was taken at different times. The thefts, he said, are under investigation.

Two eight-foot shrubs worth $250 have been dug up and stolen from in front of a private home in the 500 block of State Road. The house is currently vacant.

Two bikes were reported stolen in the Borough. A student's Trek mountain bike valued at $375 was taken last week from outside Foulke Hall on the University campus, where it had been locked to a rack.

Legisloture Approves Budget

The State Senate and Assembly on Saturday night approved a $14.7 billion budget for the fiscal year that began Monday. The budget includes the layoff of 2,000 to 3,000 State employees, the sale of four miles of Interstate 95 in Bergen County to the New Jersey Turnpike Authority, repeal of the sales tax on paper products, a $48 million increase in aid to colleges and universities, and no new taxes.

The budget was signed by Gov. Florio late Sunday night. On the revenue side, the State expects an estimated $220 million in additional Federal reimbursement for Medicaid.

Cleon Woter Act in Effect

On Monday, a clean water act that has been called the nation's toughest took effect. Under this law, New Jersey industries and municipal sewage authorities face automatic fines if they are caught polluting State waters.

The law sets mandatory minimum fines of $1,000 for each serious violation of permits designed to limit water pollution. Repeat offenders face $5,000 fines.

Toy Sofety Bill

Final legislative approval has been given by the State Assembly to a bill that calls for New Jersey doctors and hospitals to report toy-related injuries and deaths to the State Division of Consumer Affairs. The bill is part of a legislative toy safety package.

The Assembly last week also passed bills that would prohibit the mixing of incinerator ash residue with other forms of garbage; build a marine science laboratory at Sandy Hook; and allow hypodermic needles used by diabetics on insulin to be covered by prescription drug programs.

Compensation Extended

The State Assembly has approved legislation to provide an additional 61/2 weeks of unemployment compensation to thousands of out-of-work residents who have used up their benefits. The additional weeks would be funded by $250 million from the Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund.

Also approved was legislation that would require mandatory prison terms for arsonists who target abortion clinics. This bill has been sent the Senate.

24-Hour Gambling Now Low

Gov. Jim Florio has signed legislation that permits 24-hour gambling on weekends and holidays, gives more space for slot machines, and introduces three new games of chance.

The bill had been promoted by supporters as a way to help the troubled casino industry, which last year lost $268.8 million in the worst year since legalized gambling began in

Nothing was taken but police gave $350 as the replacement cost.

There were two acts of vandalism in the Borough. Ten newspaper vending machines located near the railway station on lower University Place were discovered knocked over at 2:20 Saturday morning. There were no signs of any damage to the machines, police said.

The glass covering of an automatic teller machine at a Nassau Street bank was smashed overnight last week. Police report there was no damage to the machine itself, no entry gained and no funds missings. There was no estimate of the amount of the damage.

Three Princeton area residents were fined last week in Township court.

Extra Caution Advised Over 4th of July Holiday

The New Jersey Division of Highway Traffic Safety urges drivers to exercise extra caution while traveling over the upcoming Fourth of July holiday.

According to the division's director, James A. Arena, three people lost their lives during the 1990 Fourth of July holiday as a result of motor vehicle collisions.

"Last year the number of people who died in motor vehicle crashes during the holiday was extremely low. We want that trend to continue, and to do that we need your coopera-tion," he said.

The director suggested that motorists wear seat belts, obey the speed limits and other motor vehicle laws, drive sober, and stay aware of conditions around them.

During the holiday there will suspended for 12 months. In ad- be increased police activities. The holiday officially begins at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, July 3, and ends at midnight on Sunday, July 7.

When a colleague and sometime drinking companion, Parnell Perkins, is shot at close range in the parking lot outside California Fidelity's offices, Kinsey Millhone doesn't like it. To the cops, it looks like robbery gone sour. To Kinsey, it looks like the cops are walking away from the case.

This may be Kinsey Millhone's most complicated and risk-filled case. It certainly is Sue Grafton's wittiest venture into low-life crime. "H" Is For Homicide confirms yet again that Kinsey Millhone is, as The Los Angeles Times has said, "a wonderful character, tough but not brutish, resourceful and sensitive, a fit knight to walk these mean streets with her male predecessors.'

The key figure in the history of the Princeton carillon was Arthur L. Bigelow, bellmaster of the University from 1941 until his death in 1967 and one of the most gifted carillonneurs of his day. Police Not to Blame for Motorcyclist's Death

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I would like to take this opportunity to defend the two Borough officers mentioned in your article of June 19, entitled, 'Judge Reinstates Claims in Motorcycle Fatality.

Mr. Elmer Kollar, father of the deceased motorcyclist, Mark A. Kollar, blamed the police officers, two police departments, the bar where his son became inebriated, and his son's employer, who was kind enough to supply him with a place for the night (unfortunately he had to drive to get there).

Mr. Kollar is trying to blame everyone but his son who caused his own death. His son, instead of being a responsible adult, became intoxicated and chose to drive. When requested by the police to stop, he chose not to.

The police are not to blame for this unfortunate incident. The blame lies with the deceased who chose not to obey the law, and paid the ultimate penalty. The sooner his father realizes this, the better, for his hatred and bitterness will only fester until it destroys him as well.

Fortunately, no one else was hurt, except Mark Kollar, who because of his irresponsibility, could have injured any number of innocent people.

People Power Can Make The Government Listen

To the Editor of Town Topics: I am writing this letter to thank all those people who came together with me and the Borough Merchants Association to save parking spaces in front of Davidson's Market. Together, we fought the first step in the New Jersey Department of Transportation's plan to turn our Nassau Street into a highway. And together we won. First, I want to thank "The A Team" of Dick Strazza and Jack Morrison, for making sure that this effort got off the ground. Dick crafted petitions, met with DOT officials and presented our case to the Governor. Jack helped develop our strategy and made the petition the big success it was. Together, we met with engineers from other towns, and DOT engineers and officials.

Second, I thank Maria De Pinto and Debbie Morrison who actually collected the 5,000 signatures. Without them we would not have gotten past first

Third, I thank the Borough Council and Mayor for drafting a resolution reflecting the will of the people and for approaching DOT officials. Thanks also to the Police Chief and his staff for providing the necessary in-formation which helped us convince the state officials of the error of their accident statis-

Last but not least, I want to thank all those who signed the petition and helped prove what great things are possible when we all work together to pre-serve this Princeton that we all love. With people power, we proved that we can make the government listen.

Access Is Still Possible To the Public Library

To the Editor of Town Topics: Starting on June 3, the portion of Witherspoon Street in front of the library was closed for construction. We were concerned about the impact of the construction on the library and

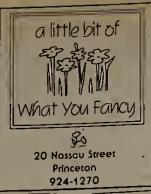

During the first 18 days of construction, we are pleased to report that more than 13,000 people came to the library. They returned 14,687 books and other materials while borrowing 15,350 others. More than 1,080 questions were answered by the reference staff and an additional 620 were handled by the staff in the children's department. During the same time period the sign-up process for the Summer Reading Program began. In 11 days, 176 children signed up.

We want to extend our thanks to Bob Pagan, assistant Borough Engineer, for his continuing help in maintaining access to the Library. The on-site supervisors Bob Kirkpatrick, Jim Hess and John Yokum are always responsive to our con-cerns for safety and maintaining adequate walkways. They are all doing a great job.

We are very pleased that thousands of people in the community have continued to use the library. Patrons can get to the building safely. We are looking forward to seeing them.

Strong Bias Seen in Choice of Slate

To the Editor of Town Topics:

To no one's surprise, the list of ten commissioners put forth by the Citizens' Committee for the Study of Consolidation of the Princetons reveals a strong and unmistakable bias in favor of consolidation. The "commission" they propose to elect raises grave questions about a genuine examination and exploration of facts for an inquiring electorate.

We do not challenge their enthusiasm, their honesty or their sincerity. We do question their willingness to dig for answers which refute their stated position. They are, after all, human.

Item: CCSC has suggested their own chairman, the vice president for development for Princeton University, help research the merger question.

Item: The League of Women Voters, long-time advocate of consolidation and the first sponsor of its latest efforts, has supplied two more "commissioners."

Item: The State of New Jersey, unabashedly pushing for consolidations of all sizes statewide, provides another pair of their candidates, one a State planning commissioner, the other a State official.

Can any thoughtful person seriously believe that if this slate of candidates is elected in November they will find reasons to reject consolidation?

We have repeatedly challenged the CCSC to select an uncommitted panel with acknowledged sceptics on board to ensure an in-depth - and believable - choice for the Princetons

Instead, their latest action supports our conviction that their "study" has already been written by those with the urge

Lastly, we remember that 13 years ago the Consolidationists told us that "Princeton Borough cannot survive without a Township take-over." Obviously, the notice of our demise was premature, as a famous author once observed. We are still here, still healthy and still an historic village well worth preserving.

PHS Graduation Party A Successful Celebration

To the Editor of Town Topics: June 19 marked the date of the Princeton High School Commencement. Following the formal exercises, the 180 young adults met together at Moun-tain Lakes House for their final farewells at a PHS-PTO sponsored graduation party.

The Graduation Party has become an annual event for the seniors. As the parties continue, more and more parents, community and civic organizations, and businesses donate their time and resources to help provide a festive celebration, that is drug and alcohol-free. This year, the high school was awarded a Project Graduation grant from the State of New Jersey to help promote the party's purpose. We were again very proud and pleased that this special day ended successfully.

Our special thanks to the Board of the Mountain Lakes House, who volunteer their time all year to keep the house and grounds a miniature paradise. Since this event is solely dependent upon solicited funds, we are indebted to the following major contributors: Merrill Lynch, the Lion's Club, the Policemen's Benevolent Association, the Rotary Club; portsMedicine, The Trust Company of Princeton, Commodities Corporation, Princeton Youth Fund and Dr. Mark Branon:

Nick Procaccino, artistic director of Stage One Productions, notes that Happily Ever After is the first new, original work that his company has produced. The short plays that make up the evening are titled "Dearly Beloved," "For Better or for Worse," and "There's Always a Catch," Part I and Part II. Christopher Scordo and Dara Ellen Breitkopf are the star-crossed couple in "Dearly Beloved." He is a long-distance trucker, and she is a graduate student who has just turned their wedding rehearsal to a disaster by declaring that she can't go through with the marriage. An 18th Century Revolution Upstaged by 20th Century One Princeton University historian Robert Darnton went to Berlin in 1989 to finish writing a book on 18th century, prerevolutionary France. Instead, a 20th century revolution unfolded in front of him, and the former New York Times reporter was quick to seize the opportunity. The result, a book called Berlin Journal 1989-90 has been published by W.W.

The book is more journalism than history. Prof. Darnton describes what the revolution looked like and felt like, and he relates what it meant to — and how it was propelled by - ordinary East Germans.

Just a few months before the wall was conquered, Prof. Darnton and his family had taken up residence in West Berlin. His research completed, Prof. Darnton was to finish writing a book on illegal literature in France before the revolution.

"But something that looked and smelled suspiciously like a revolution exploded right under my nose," says Prof. Darnton, director of Princeton's Program in European Cultural Studies. "I just went everywhere and did everything. East Germany had really been closed tight but suddenly became totally accessible. I was certainly well-placed - by luck to get at the experience of the revolution, the experience of the ordinary people."

Berlin Journal includes profiles of some East German censors who would soon be out of work; of Bitterfeld, perhaps the most polluted city in Europe; of the notorious Trabi, the East German version of the automobile; of the revolution as viewed from and joined by the small town of Laucha; and of the enormous reach and power of the East German secret police before the fall. Chapters also capture such heady moments as the million-person dance on and around the Wall on New Year's Eve 1989.

Throughout, Prof. Darnton portrays the events of 1989 and 1990 as a revolution of people who willingly took on great risks to move a seemingly immovable object.

'It was a cruel system," he says. "To see people standing up against it, to see that trickle become a flood, was mighty impressive."

Attorney, they had to quickly turn their attention to personnel policies and goals and objectives, and to take an even deeper interest in the affairs of the Department.

From this has emerged a Commission that, said Mr. Hendry, is trying to become more active than passive, and seeks to call attention to community needs and to preventative health education.

The Commission has begun implementing managementby-objective and a systematic planning process with the health officer hired last year, William Hinshillwood, said Commission Member Muriel Lord, who has served for the past four years.

"We set the priorities of the Health Commission, decide whose responsibility is what, and determine what he, and we, are accountable for," she said."The majority of our evaluation is based on this.

Health Commission Right now it is only for the health officer, but we are hoping to do this with all staft."

The Health Department's program will be evaluated similarly, she said, beginning with a community needs assessment (published in this week's TOWN TOPICS).

"The mission of the Department is to provide health services as mandated by the State, and also as the Commission perceives the needs of the community," said Mr. Hendry. There is a focus now on creating public awareness of health matters.'

Recently, the Commission presented a public discussion of yme disease, and Mr. Hinshillwood has been actively involved in Borough Council's deliberations on cat inoculations and licensing.

A health-needs questionnaire has been sent to some 50 health professionals and community leaders, and further efforts are under way to get input from the community.

ROBERT HENDRY, former member of Borough Council, is now helping to lead the Health Department into an era of greater accountability and increased

Hopes to Reach Out

"People who administer welfare and people in the churches need to know how the system operates," said Mr. Hendry. He hopes to reach out to various groups, including Princeton's burgeoning Latin-American population, to identify and create priorities.

"We want to be activists in the system," he said. "Some of this is based on my own experience as manager of innercity hospitals in New York, and I was motivated by my course at Harvard. I want to address the needs of needy people who haven't had health care."

Mr. Hendry, now retired, served as executive assistant to the president of the Catholic Medical Center of Brooklyn and Queens, and as administrator, geoeral services, of United Hospitals of Newark. He is also a graduate of Harvard Business School's Executive Program for Health Systems Man-

Beginning with the question of what the health needs are in the community, Ms. Lord said the Commission is in the process of evaluating both the quality and the cost effectiveness of the programs.

"Sometimes our hands are tied because they are Statemandated programs," she said. "They require that professionals be used, and professional time is very high indeed. We are concerned about whether they are cost effective."

Last year, a visit to the Child Health Clinic cost the Health Department $41; to the Sexually Transmitted Disease Clinic, an average of $45 a visit; and to the dental program, an average cost of $70. The first two are State-mandated programs. The third is a municipal initiative. With the exception of $2,000 in State aid, all health programs are funded by the Borough and Township.

Hispanic Community

Health Commission members have met with the Latin American Task Force about their concern that Princeton's Hispanic population is not being properly served. Not very many Latin American parents, for example, attend the Child Health Clinic, where children receive free inoculations, examinations, and hearing and development screenings.

pointed to a backlog at the clinic, with people having to wait four to six weeks for an appointment. The Commission will examine whether there is a need to increase the number of clinic hours.

The Department's school dental program is also of some concern. Currently, school nurses identify those children who need dental service. Preschoolers, however, are outside this net, and are not getting help.

"I think we will have to request an increase in funding in that area," said Mr. Hendry. All programs will be evaluated prior to drafting of the 1992 budget.

Health Commission members are also looking at the possibility of forming a diabetes group. Mr. Hendry said a number of physicians have offered to volunteer time.

Right now, Mr. Hinshillwood is working several hours a week as the Lawrence Town-ship health officer, since that department is still without an officer. Regionalization of municipal health departments is favored by the State, and this possibility is currently being examined by the Princeton and Lawrence departments.

The Health Department's staff of seven includes two sanitary inspectors and a housing inspector. In 1990, the Department conducted 550 housing inspections on Borough and Township rental units. There were 198 regular inspections of food establishments.

In addition to the Child Health Clinic, the school dental program, and the Sexually Transmitted Diseases Clinic, the Health Department oversees the W.1.C. program, a supplemental nutrition program for mothers and children, and operates and funds home nursing services; influenza inocula-tions for high-risk persons; health screenings; and health education.

It is also in charge of pool inspections and animal and rabies control, responds to environmental complaints, and maintains all vital records and statistics.

Borough members of the Health Commission are, Helen M. Bess, Evelyn Geddes, Sandra Starr, Mr. Hendry and Ms. Lord. Township members are Margaret Broadwater, Cynthia minations, and hearing and minations, and hearing and Hughes, Dr. Quentin Lyle, Dr. Norman J. Sissman, and Even so, Mr. Hinshillwood Margaret T. Sprout. Lucy Mackenzie is Borough Council liaison and Leonard Godfrey Township Committee liaison.

"I'm upset that stock manipulations charges were upheld against two of the defendants," Mr. Regan commented, "but delighted almost all other charges were dropped.
"With regard to the remaining charge against myself, we believe that a mistake was made. The absurdity is that I now stand convicted of a conspiracy to manipulate a stock, spiracy to manipulate a stock, that I was never charged with manipulating. It's a very confusing issue even for the judges."

These transactions created losses for tax purposes. The appeals court also said Judge Carter should have all the jury indiges."

"The issue in the case wasn't whether appellants' construction of the property tion of the tax regulation was correct or even objectively reasonable, but whether it was made in good faith," the appeals court said. The defendants couldn't be held criminally liable if they believed "in good faith" they were following the law, the court said.

However, the appeals court suggested that prosecutors should reconsider whether racketeering charges should again be brought and indicated that RICO may be inappropriate for tax cases.

From the very moment the RICO indictments were announced in this case, there was a great deal of dicussion on whether they should have been applied. "Before this lengthy case is retried, the government may decide to withdraw the RICO count in view of the Department of Justice's July 1989 guidelines, which substantially curtail the use of tax frauds as direct or indirect RICO offenses, and the district court's judicious decision to eliminate the forfeiture of assets by the defendants Regan, Rabinowitz, Berkman and Smotrich," the three-judge panel said.

Sherwin Case Recalled

The ruling was the second such reversal by the Second Circuit Court of Appeals. In March of this year, it reversed the conviction of the GAF cor-poration and its senior ex-ecutive, James T. Sherwin, 15 Poor Farm Road.

The reversals are a black mark on the record of Rudolph W. Giuliani, the former Federal prosecutor who championed the use of the RICO law in securities cases. Mr. Giuliani then threw his hat in the political ring, running against David Dinkins in the New York mayoralty race, leaving his successors to prosecute the

At one time, the Prince-ton/Newport defendants faced lengthy prison terms and huge forfeitures of money totalling almost $22 million. Both the prison terms and the fines were later reduced substantially by Judge Carter and the jury after the initial convictions.

At this point, it's uncertain what penalties the defendants now face.

'It's been a very difficult three years, but it finally looks like justice is on the way to being done," Mr. Regan said. "If things play out the way we hope they will, everybody can get back to living their normal
